

Used dress sales in the year of Covid-19

The feis reserves the right to update or change the information in this booklet.

Goal

Our goal is to provide dancing families a much needed opportunity to replace outgrown dresses and to recoup some of the investment in those dresses. The usual way of displaying dresses on a rack where people can search through them touching each dress in the process, obviously has huge potential to spread infection.

Given our current situation with the Covid Pandemic we have devised a safe process to protect families from cross contamination while still allowing you to explore the dresses on offer.

Happy shopping!

Location

Used dresses will be located in the lobby behind the merchandise stand, beyond the ballroom entrances. Look for signposting.

All staff working in this area will use hand sanitizer or wash their hands regularly.

This room will be locked each night

To sell a dress

TO SELL A DRESS:

Bring your dress to the Used dress area. (beyond the Grand Ballroom, behind merchandise)

Remove all coverings, dress bags and plastic coverings and take them with you.

The feis will photograph the dress front & back and post the picture on our website.

The feis will provide a clear dry clean bag to keep the dress protected.

The feis will take basic measurements through the plastic and display them with the online picture.

The feis will then number the dress and provide you with a corresponding number.

Please retain the number to get your dress back.

The feis will give you a google form address to fill in so that we have your contact information.

If someone is interested in your dress, we will give them your phone number.

See below for payment options. You must show proof of payment to the staff before leaving your dress.

To buy a dress

Go to the Used dress area. (beyond the Grand Ballroom, behind merchandise)

Please wear tight fitting clothing so that you feel comfortable changing in public but can also see what the dress will look like.

The staff will provide you with a one use disposable measuring tape. You will take your own measurements so you have an approximate idea of the size you are looking for.

Then the feis will direct you to a website featuring the dresses on offer. They are all numbered. (www.wattersschool.com, click on USED DRESSES)

You won't have open access to the dress rack, due to the chances of cross contamination.

Instead we will give out one dress at a time to try on.

Request the number of the dress you are interested in.

Staff will have you and your dancer use hand sanitizer first and apply gloves before handling the dress.

You'll be assign a taped box in the area immediately outside the dress room. You can try on the dress here but for security, you can't leave this area with the dress.

When you find one you like, we will give you the owner's cell number to make contact.
